Inn and Spa at Loretto
Fact Sheet*THE PERSPECTIVE

Celebrating its 400th anniversary and steeped in Native American, Spanish and Western cultures, Santa Fe was recently noted as one of the nation's most historically interesting cities. Natural beauty and a soulful landscape are intrinsic to its character, contributing to its standing as the second largest art market in the U.S. Embracing its diversity and its heritage as the oldest Capital city in the United States, Santa Fe is brimming with extraordinary entertainment, an exquisite dining scene and endless recreational activities. The Inn and Spa at Loretto is a fixture in the Santa Fe community. Originally built on the site of the Sister's of Loretto girls' school and sharing grounds with the famed Loretto Chapel, the Inn pulsates the essence of Santa Fe.

THE LOCATION

Surrounded by thousands of acres of pristine wilderness, the Sangre de Cristo mountains and nestled in the heart of Santa Fe, the Inn and Spa at Loretto sits at the end of the historical Santa Fe Trail and is one of the most photographed buildings in the city. The Inn is centrally located within walking distance to Canyon Road's "Artists' Row", the Plaza and the Palace of the Governors, Georgia O'Keefe Museum, boutiques, shops and restaurants.

THE DESIGN

The Inn and Spa at Loretto embodies the culture of the region, utilizing adobe-style architecture and reflecting the true spirit and history of Santa Fe. Inspired by the famed Taos Pueblo, the Inn incorporates the style of 13th century pueblos into nearly every design detail, from handcrafted doors, windows and fixtures to petroglyphs, weavings and a warm kiva hearth. A vibrant earth-toned palette, adorned with the work of local artisans, completes the soulfully elegant retreat.

ACCOMMODATIONS

134 fully appointed guest rooms, including five specialty suites (ranging from 300 to 700 square feet) and a 2,800-square-foot, two story presidential suite, feature a charming Southwestern motif with vibrant colors, hand-carved furnishings and Native American art. Most rooms have shared or individual balconies with views of the Sangre de Cristo mountains, Saint Francis Cathedral and Loretto Chapel.
